"Nonviolence is a powerful and just weapon which cuts without wounding. It is a sword that heals." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

"Nonviolence" as a methodology, as a way of being, incorporated into the curricula of our schools and classrooms is a powerful force!

Recent budgetary cuts and the appearing rise in violence in our classrooms brought about by weapons being brought into our classrooms - and the increase in harassment, bullying and cyber-intimidation - is calling all teachers to reach deeper into their hearts and minds to discover better and more effective ways to communicate with and inspire their students. In this C.E.U. training, you will be introduced to the basic foundational building blocks - the core concepts of violence and nonviolence - you will learn how to tap into ways of being that will empower you in your life, community, and classroom - and you will have an opportunity to examine how these principles can impact your life and the lives of your students in a measurable way. You will experience ways in which you can powerfully expand your range of choices and empower yourself in achieving your purpose and goals, and the purpose and goals of your students and their classrooms.
